

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A mobile communication terminal capable of providing an improved preview facility for moving image contents service over wireless Internet and a method for controlling the same are disclosed. The mobile communication terminal receives moving image file information for the moving image contents from the contents service server, transmits moving image preview request for the moving image contents to the contents service server, and then receives a preview image for previewing the moving image contents.